A photograph of a dirt path leading towards a bright light source, possibly the sun, in a forest. The path is illuminated, creating a strong lens flare effect. The background is a soft-focus green forest.

To choose life:

“The treacherous enemy facing the church today is the dictatorship of the routine...becoming "lord" in the life of the church. Programs are organized and the prevailing conditions are accepted as normal...When we come to the place where everything can be predicted and nobody expects anything unusual from God, we are in a rut...

To choose life:

“...The routine dictates, and we can tell not only what will happen next Sunday, but what will occur next month and, if things do not improve, what will take place next year. Then we have reached the place where what has been determines what is, and what is determines what will be.”
