Primary Focus: Worship

‘Missions is not the ultimate goal of the church, worship is. Missions exists because worship doesn’t. Worship is ultimate, not missions because God is ultimate, not man. When this age is over, and the countless millions of the redeemed fall on their faces before the throne of God, missions will be no more. It is a temporary necessity.

*But worship abides forever.’
(Piper, ‘Let the Nations Be Glad’)*

His story of glory

'Mission efforts which draw their motivation from a compassionate response to the human predicament will only go so far. Guilt-based appeals to care for hurting or lost people continue to soften our hearts a little. In practice, however, they weary and harden believers to a minimal token obedience...'

His story of glory

...Costly and difficult work needs to be done. Such labour cannot be sustained by the fleeting, momentary zeal generated by appeals for desperate, perishing souls. God's global purpose is an ancient affair, far more than an urgent need. Now more than ever believers need to be nurtured into a far-reaching jealousy for God's glory.'
(Hawthorne 'The Story of His Glory')
