'The earth is the LORD's,
and everything in it.
The world and all its people
belong to him...'

'The aim is that Jesus Christ be made know in all the world as the all-powerful, all-wise, all-righteous, all-merciful, all-satisfying Treasure of the universe. This will happen when Christians don't just say that Christ is valuable, or sing that Christ is valuable, but truly experience in their hearts the unsurpassed worth of Jesus with so much joy that they can say, 'I count everything as loss because of the surpassing worth of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord.' (Phil 1:21) (Piper, When I Don't Desire God, 21)
